THIXOTROPIC WB FINISH FOR OUTDOORS AZ35xx/XX

AZ35xx/XX is the next generation of single-component, thixotropic waterbased topcoats for exterior use.

Stand out characteristics of the new system produce exceptional performance on external windows and doors.

These excellent durability performance characteristics are coupled with good application and drying properties needed for production of exterior artefacts:

- ✓ Hold up to 300+ microns
 ✓ Stackable after overnight drying
- ✓ Smooth final surface
 ✓ Good clarity for translucent systems

The high resistance polymers used to formulate AZ35xx/XX allow this finish to obtain high durability even in places with high humidity. The very low water sensitivity also gives protection against bleaching due to the rain, which sometimes occur with clear coatings for exterior, if exposed outdoors in the first period right after the application.

The outstanding performances of AZ35xx/XX in combination with AM504/XX have recently been tested by CATAS and obtained the CQA - CSEW No. 65/19, which certifies the conformity to the EN 927-2 performance specification. The tests have also verified the high quality and performances of the single coat system AM0504/92 + AZ35xx/89.

AZ35xx/XX is available in many standards colours and also as a white, neutral and clear converter, to produce pigmented and translucent topcoats with XA2006/XX or XA4034/XX tinting pastes.

CHARACTERISTIC	BENEFIT
High water resistance	Bleaching resistance, both in the short and in the long term
High wet adhesion	High durability even in very damp environments
Application and drying	Smooth, high build surfaces with good stacking and handling properties
